April Showers & Spring Flowers

Welcome to April! It's been a slow start to Spring here in Washir the rain and wind lingering on and limiting our time out in the fi manage to get out some days though, despite the blustery condi

We have been very productive in the office as a result, in partici analyzing the last three years' of data which has been very excit: results will be shared through publications and at scientific confi we have spent a fair portion of time working through these to fu understand what our data is telling us about the harbor porpoise region.

Sharing Our Work - Presentations

We are passionate about sharing what we do and our knowledge about marine mammals with people of all ages, and one way we do this is through giving talks and presentations. We were fortunate this month to have had the opportunity to give presentations in Anacortes, Burlington and Mount Vernon, which were very well attended.

Encouraging interest in the marine environment through education is a huge part of continuing to protect and care for our world, and gives us the chance to share the excitement and passion we have for marine mammals with all of you!

We are always happy to talk to groups, however big or small, so if you are interested in learning more about our work in the Salish Sea or arranging a presentation to your group, get in touch! You can contact us via email (cindy.elliser@pacmam.org), or give us a call at (360) 202-2860.
